Recruitment process

As part of the recruitment process, you will be involved in an interview 'superday,' consisting of an interview, case study and networking.

What is it like to work with us?

You will analyse financial data (including building and running financial models), draft pitch presentations for clients, add value to live deals and actively track share price movements, whilst monitoring the media for industry news, trends and transaction updates.

You will work in highly collaborative, market-leading teams centred on camaraderie and respect, contribute to projects which leave a lasting impact on our clients and communities, gain exposure to clients and senior business leaders and have an opportunity to pursue new and exciting pathways across geographies, sectors and teams.
